XIII. International MODEL PROJECT FORUM 'European Urban Studies'

Institut für Europäische Urbanistik (IfEU), Bauhaus-University Weimar

Thursday 21. – Friday 22.02.2013

Reflecting current fields of attention that gravitate today's world of urbanism, the XIII. International Model Project Forum outlines projects and topics which students of the Master's Programme "European Urban Studies" were involved in the summer 2012 at international Model Project Partners.

Permitting our students to develop skills and talents based on their previous studies and experiences, the "Model Projects European Urban Studies" bear the option to deepen the self-understanding and to find orientation in the broad field of urbanism.

Being inspired by the different creative environments of our international Model Project Partners our students get the possibility not only to take an active role and develop interdisciplinary skills with professionals but also to reflect that role definition and to develop one more step in their own urban commitment. The Model Project Forum finally offers a platform to reflect all these different aspects that form our urban realm and to critically rethink gaps between practice and theory.
