

Computational Argumentation Seminar

Topic Assignment

Henning Wachsmuth, Yamen Ajjour

October 25, 2017

(updated November 8, 2017)

Bauhaus-Universität Weimar

www.webis.de henning.wachsmuth@uni-weimar.de

Topic assignment and tentative long talk schedule

Date	#	Topic	Student	Advisor
Nov 29	a	Mining 1: Unit segmentation	Milad Alshomary	Yamen
	b	Mining 2: Unit type classification	dropped out	Henning
Dec 6	c	Mining 3: Relation identification	Oana Popescu	Henning
	d	Stance classification	Kevin Lang	Yamen
Dec 13	e	Classification of schemes	Wael Al-Atrash	Henning
	q	Discourse and argumentation	He Ren	Yamen
Dec 20	f	Argumentation quality assessment	Anne Peter	Henning
	m	Debate winner prediction	Jawad Ahmed	Henning
Jan 10	n	The role of the participants	dropped out	Yamen
	j	Framing	Andrii Artamonov	Yamen
Jan 17	k	Overall argumentation	Abd U Hoo Jamshaid	Henning
	l	Argumentation strategies	Tauqeer Ashraf	Yamen
Jan 24	g	Argumentation synthesis	Saeed Entezari	Henning
	h	Visualization and interaction	Liselot Ramirez	Henning
Jan 31	o	Argument search	Sujay Shalawadi	Yamen
	p	Argumentative writing support	Aaron Solbach	Henning

Your next tasks

1. Prepare your short talk

- Read and understand the two papers of your topic
- Structure your topic, identify key concepts and methods, ...
- Create a draft of a short talk, which outlines your topic

Recommendation: Not more than 3–4 slides

2. Meet with your advisor

- Prepare questions on what you did not understand
- Contact us for 15–30 minutes appointment

Not mandatory but strongly recommended

- Revise your short talk afterwards

3. November 8: All short talks

- Ordering as in the schedule above
- 5–7 minutes time limit is strict
- Attendance mandatory if you want to be graded

Need a doctor's certificate or similar if you cannot make it

