Opinion:

This app helps to discover world heritage sites Sanssouci Palace, in Postdam Germany. It shows information about buildings and places with photo, text and map. Also that app gives information about important people who lived in the area. It offers sharing function for places on social media and via email. It uses iPhone's stock map application. It does not have offline map which is not good for tourists. In the map screen it shows all the places and user's current location but it does not have navigation option. People cannot contribute or upload anything to the app. App layout is well designed. Everything is clear it is easy to use and understandable. There is nothing special features in that app. I might use recommend guide tours feature in my prototype App. It will help people to easily discover the world heritage sites.
