Original	Proposal	Comments
		Personally, I consider the set of icons used for text operations in Whatsapp a bit confusing. Even if the scissors sign clearly denotes the “cut” action the other ones would require a subtext explaining the underlying operation. Moreover, in my opinion the icon used for “select all” operation definitely requires a redesign because from my user experience, it is pretty hard to say immediately what does it imply (I thought it means “paste”). Therefore, I would replace it with a more intuitive and intelligible one (at least for me). I consider my proposal much more understandable and suitable because it is more or less similar to the “select all” action performed in Windows OS (area selected + pointer); and since it is the most popular OS I tend to think it is a better alternative for the majority of the users.
